

To My Sisters,

God bless His great repository of excellence
With women who internalize the eternal charge:
To whom much is given, much is expected.
Thus, it is expected that we will do exceptionally well.

Thank you for hearing the voice of one crying in the wilderness for freedom.
Thank you for carving out this sacred spiritual space.
I honor this space with a voice that once was lost, but now has been found.
I honor the voice of the voiceless.
Empowering them to recognize the power of their own voice.
Daring to be their voice when fear has gripped the throat of the people.

Thank you for helping me discover my personal power.
A power akin to that of the creator: Individuality, power to think and do.
I am now ready to live a life worthy of God's calling.
Like the free birds that leap in the air, I dare to explore the unlimited possibilities.
I dare to claim the sky my own.

We know that at the very moment of commitment,
The entire universe conspires for our success.
We make that commitment.
We commit ourselves to make manifest the glory of God that is within us.

Because we have been blessed with the gift of Patty's Healing Center.
Not for ourselves, but for others.
Jesus sends us back into the world so that we can share our blessings with others.
We are stepping forward with new armor that will protect us from worldliness things.
Choosing heavenly light over darkness which seeks to contaminate our souls.
We will bring that light into the world through Christ who strengthens us.
May our lives shine so brightly for Jesus.

Ubuntu, I am, Because you are.
We arise and shine together.
As one body and one spirit in fellowship with God.
The Alpha and Omega who comes to us with the pierced hands of His Son,
And says: "come follow me."

Peace be With You,
M. C. E.
